

Feb 2003

Fresh

The installation by Colombian artist Federico Uribe entitled 'Cactus Garden' is one of many pieces on show from tonight in Fresh! an exhibition by the national gallery at its Harbour Place premises. The life-size work goes beyond the playful. Using plastic forks and other everyday objects, the artist makes strong sensory statements. The whimsical, technicolour piece uses practical items out of their usual context to create a visually and sensually stimulating work. Fresh! billed as cutting edge, showcases the work of 16 artists from across the globe including two based in Cayman. Photo: Elphina Magona

