STUDENT WORKSHEET

A Day in the Life IV

The National Gallery's art-in-residence programme and exhibition 'A Day in the Life' returns to the Gallery and, once again, three popular local artists have been invited to transform the Gallery into their working studios before mounting the completed works into three solo exhibitions. This year's selected artists are:

Wray Banker, founder of Caymanian art group "Native Sons"

Kerri-Anne Chisholm, one of Cayman's talented emerging artists.

Nasaria Suckoo-Chollette, One of Cayman's finest painters and poets.

This unusual exhibition is modelled on a traditional artist-in-residency programme which aims to provide the artists with a space to explore and experiment with their art. It will follow a 'no rules' policy offering the artists complete creative freedom!

You may want to ask the artists some questions such as "Where do your ideas come from?" Use the space below to write down a few questions for the artists.

Kerri-Anne

During her time at the Gallery, Kerri-Anne visited several older generation Caymanians who shared their stories and wisdom with her. Have a look at Kerri's cards in her show and write down your 5 favourite sayings and why they are important to you.
